Ministry rejects school board's funding request

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Ministry of Education has handed out this year's capital grants and once again Haliburton County has been left out in the cold.

Education Director Stuart Baker says the board received a phone call from the ministry last week confirming that the board's request for capital funding had been turned down.

The board is looking for money to relieve overcrowded classroom conditions in Minden and Haliburton villages. This year's request was to fund an addition to J.D. Hodgson to accommodate students from the Victoria Street School, and an addition to Minden's Archie Stouffer including a new gymnasium.

The grants are part of the Ministry's five-year capital funding program and the money allotted last week won't be paid until 1993.

Baker says that even if the board is granted the funds next year, the money won't actually reach the board until 1994.

Board Chairman Len Salvatore says being denied funding means the board will have to step up the pressure on the province.

Minden asks County to stay

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council has reaffirmed its opposition to the county's proposed plan to relocate county offices on the Allsaw Flats.

In a resolution passed at last Thursday's meeting, council, with the exception of Reeve Ray Moore, voted to ask county council to reconsider the move.

Council went even further by offering the use of municipal land to accommodate an expansion of county facilities in the village.

"Council recommends to the Haliburton County Council to reconsider their proposal of moving all county buildings to Allsaw Flats," the resolution says. "Council feels all county needs can be met in the village of Minden. Council is willing to assist expansion of your present building with municipal land or municipal land within the village on the town water and sewer system."

However the resolution met with Moore's

Reeve rejects council opposition

Berry accuses Moore of not representing local interests

dissapproval. "The reeve is opposed to this resolution," he said. "You don't know what you're doing."

Moore said there are no village boundaries defining Minden and Allsaw Flats could still be considered part of the County Town.

But Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said including Allsaw as a part of the village is a "debatable point." He then accused the reeve of not representing the residents of Anson, Hindon and Minden by refusing to follow the wishes of council.

Moore said when he sits on County Council he's acting for the good of the county, not just the township.

Councillor Mike Maher said he was concerned by the fact that he had read about the decision to move the county offices in the paper and that Minden council had never been asked for input.

Bob Sisson, the councillor who brought the resolution to the table, said the intent of the motion was to have the township involved.

The controversy is centred around a decision by county council to purchase a 4.6-acre site on Highway 121 with the intention of building a county complex to replace the current Newcastle Street facilities.

Although both Moore and Berry supported the purchase when it was approved, Berry has since changed sides on the issue and now opposes relocating the county's offices outside of Minden village.

Berry's opposition is based, in part, on a provision of the County Charter signed in 1874 which specifies Minden as the county town.

In a recorded vote, Moore was the only member of Minden council not to support Sisson's motion.

NUMBERED DAYS ON NEWCASTLE?: The county's present building, located on Newcastle Street in Minden, is no longer able to meet the government's needs according to county council. They hope to move the facilities out to Allsaw Flats but are facing opposition from Minden council who want the offices to remain in the village. Reeve Ray Moore is the only councillor to support the move.

Stanhope okays runway access

by Carol Moffatt

Stanhope Council has passed a by-law to allow an access from the airport to private property.

Brian Hughes had applied for the access from the runway to the south end of his property in order to facilitate his use of the airport.

Council members briefly discussed restrictions on the approval. They decided the access would be allowed with the provision that Hughes not sell gasoline or provide any other service that the airport currently provides.

In other airport news, business is booming for the airstrip. The Airport Manager's monthly report recorded an increase in movement at the airport. In March, 82 planes landed or took off from Stanhope; in April that number rose to 235.

Fuel sales for February-March were 1,874 litres and the tally from April until early May was 3,303 litres.

Airport committee member resigns over restructuring

by Carol Moffatt

After serving on the Stanhope Airport Committee for 20 years Derek Rolfe has resigned.

In a letter submitted to the Stanhope Council last Wednesday Rolfe cited the hiring of the new airport manager as the best thing for the airport but the worst thing for the committee.

"The hiring of an airport manager on the completion of the construction was, in my opinion, the best thing that could have happened to the airport operation and to aviation in general," Rolfe stated in his letter.

"Unfortunately this produced serious repercussions to the morale of some of the members of the committee, in as much as we are no longer a working part of the airport, but have been downgraded to a social committee for the convenience of the township," he wrote.

Rolfe said he felt the township's decision to place the committee at this level was "... one of poor planning..." and that the committee, which is capable of much more, deserves more respect.

The only solution, stated Rolfe, was to recruit new members to the committee who want to act only as a social committee. In order to create a vacancy for such members Rolfe tendered his resignation effective immediately.

Council accepted the resignation with regret and hesitation. The motion to accept Rolfe's resignation was slow to occur, but the members felt there was no alternative.

Rolfe has served voluntarily at the airport over the years as chairman, committee member and safety officer. He also represented the committee on the recent upgrading.

"I will hasten to say that I have done so with considerable pride and self satisfaction," Rolfe said of his volunteer work.

His long-term commitment to the community was formally recognized last year when he was named Stanhope's resident of the year.

After the acceptance of his resignation Rolfe said it was a hard decision to make. "I've been down about the whole thing," he said "But I've always said when enjoyment becomes frustration, it's time to do something about it."

Rolfe said he still doesn't understand why the airport committee can't maintain some of its duties "without encroaching on the authority of the airport manager."

"A social committee is a cup of tea and donut stuff," said Rolfe. "I have a lot more to offer than that."

Stanhope wins Worker's Comp appeal

by Carol Moffatt

Stanhope Council has saved the township almost $8,000 by winning its appeal to a Workers' Compensation Board penalty

In dismissing the penalty, the board recognized the township's improved safety record.

The money was an assessment fine levied on the township by the board on October 27, 1989. The board assesses accident rates of all corporations and calculates a yearly penalty fee to be paid to the board. The rate calculated is based on rate group frequency or, the average based on other businesses of the same type. The township had one accident in 1984, four in 1985 and one in 1986.

A letter from Hearings Officer G. Harrison stated that the one accident in 1984 resulted in an acceptable accident frequency rate when compared with the rate group frequency. However, the one accident in 1986 resulted in the township's accident frequency rate exceeding 25 per cent of the group rate frequency.

In order to compensate for the rate exceeding the group frequency, the board levied an additional assessment of $7,973.77 on the township. Gerald Bain, Stanhope's Clerk Administrator attended a recent hearing to witness evidence and arguments on why the fine should be dismissed.

The hearing was told that the majority of the accident costs were related to temporary employees who were working on Stanhope's roads department. It was advised at the hearing that a joint Health and Safety Committee has been implemented, that a written safety policy was adopted by council in December of 1984 and that a more formalized Health and Safety Program has been put into action.

Overall, it was proven that the township has made a serious commitment to developing an effective safety program.

The Township is also working with the Safety Association and is observing first aid regulations. There were no accidents reported in 1987, only one in 1988 and none in 1989. The board recognized this significant drop in claims since the implementation of a serious safety program.

The Hearings Officer concluded that "the employer is making a sincere and determined effort to reduce accidents, and has taken a serious approach in organizing an effective Health and Safety Plan." The Officer directed that the additional assessment for 1984 to 1986 be cancelled.

A LONG HOT SUMMER: a construction worker watches as a rock is drilled for dynamite on Highway 118 east of Carnarvon. The road is undergoing a major reconstruction this summer.

Board will have to make do with portables

"What we have to do is lobby harder," says Salvatori. "We have to get some answers and put pressure on the ministry to do something."

Last month the board took education minister Sean Conway and Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins on a tour of local school facilities, raising hopes that help might be forthcoming. Trustees hoped Conway's first-hand look at overcrowded conditions might help loosen provincial purse strings.

Although the board didn't receive any capital funding, Salvatori says the ministry did allocate money for two new portables in Haliburton County. "That's what they consider a compromise I guess."

"That's not a long-term solution. It's not even a short-term solution because we need more portables than that for next year," he says.

Salvatori says the board is also going to have to put more pressure on Victoria-Haliburton's MPP John Eakins to try to get some results.

Without any capital grants for the next three years, Haliburton's school board is now faced with the task of trying to overcome the overcrowded classrooms on its own.

"Portables are the only answer," says Salvatori. "We talked about a building program, but if it cost $5 million and there are no grants I don't think the local tax payers can afford it."

Just servicing the debt load of a locally financed capital program would be too much, says Salvatori. "We don't want to have 20 per cent tax increases every year," he says. "We'd like to be within the rate of inflation. There's only so often you can go to the well."

"We'll have to tighten our belt just a touch and make do the best we can with portables."

But even portables aren't without their costs. Besides the initial purchase price, Salvatori says the board has to buy furniture and pay for a teacher for each unit.

With no capital funding, Salvatori says the board now has no choice but to try to stay in the Archie Stouffer Annex in Minden beyond the original three-year term.

Next year will be the the last year on the board's lease of the old IGA store in Minden, which is being used to house five primary classes. When the lease expires, so does the temporary zoning that was needed to allow the school to operate on Minden's Bobcaygeon Road in a commercially zoned area.

When they originally leased the building in 1988, the board faced opposition from several Minden residents and the temporary rezoning was sent to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing for approval.

With the expiration of the by-law, Salvatori says the board is going to have to ask to have the rezoning extended until the board can afford to build new accommodations.

"The annex is far more suitable than portables," he says.

But the Ministry of Education is offering a glimmer of hope that funding for Haliburton may eventually be forthcoming.

Jack McFadden, a spokesman for the ministry's Central Ontario Regional Office, says that even though Haliburton County didn't receive any capital funds this year, it doesn't mean the province isn't aware of the local situation.

"We're not saying Haliburton doesn't need anything," says McFadden. "But based on the funds made available they didn't make it."

However, the overcrowding at Archie Stouffer is making its way up the provincial priority list, says McFadden. "The Minden project is going to come along before very long. I'm not saying next year, but its reasonably high on the list."

Last year the ministry set aside money for "emergency" situations that didn't make it on the capital grant program. But this year McFadden says there has been no announcement of any contingency funding. "This is it."

Salvatori says the board is aware Minden's position on the priority list is improving. "It's been on the list for a long time," he says.

And in the meantime, Salvatori says the board can start preparing for the day the board does receive funding. By selling the Lakeview and Victoria Street sites, Salvatori says the board can put the sale money aside to start earning interest to build up a building fund.

The board also plans to make sure the ministry gets an earful of local concerns.

"We've asked the nice way, now we have to play a little bit of hard ball and get things speeded up," says Salvatori.

Public access

It is encouraging to see Minden's Parks Committee is promoting expanded public access to the lakes in the municipality in spite of pressure from lakefront property owners who, for obvious reasons, would like to limit access.

The committee is calling for $6,000 in its new budget to go towards the creation of a new beach in the townships. The request has already drawn opposition from one property owners association that fears the new beach will be located on its lake. Further opposition can be expected when a decision is made on where the new beach will be located.

Minden Council will then have to decide if the opposition is based on sound reasoning or if it is just a cry from cottagers who want to keep their lakes as private as possible. And unless there is good reasoning behind the opposition, council should proceed with its plans.

The abundance of lakes in Haliburton County is one of the main drawing cards for people considering a move to this area. However, the availability of undeveloped lakefront property on the market is dismal.

Unless council pushes to open up new beaches and lake accesses, the value of this drawing card is greatly diminished because those who buy inland properties can't conveniently enjoy the resource.

Headcount

It appears that Minden has only one 'representative' on Haliburton County Council and none on the county's management committee.

Reeve Ray Moore's statement that "it is not an easy role to be wearing two hats at county council" demonstrates that he has been led to believe he should toe the line when he sits on county council.

By definition, a representative is a person appointed to act or speak for others. Moore was appointed to act or speak for the people of Minden when he was elected two years ago.

He should not be wearing two hats.

THE JUGGLER

"IT'S NOT EASY TO WEAR TWO HATS."

Canadian 'fashion' making big news these days

Fashion is a form of ugliness so intolerable that we have to alter it every six months.

Oscar Wilde

Maybe it's a late-breaking epidemic of spring fever, but Canadians are suddenly, inexplicably prattling about fashion, of all subjects.

This is an unexpected development from a people whose contributions to the world of High Fashion to date are the toque, mittens-on-a-string and toe rubbers. Fashion plates we ain't. When it comes to fancy dressers, the Americans have Cher; we Canucks have Cher-ry.

As in Don.

But that, as I say, may all be changing. Suddenly, Canada is a-buzz with fashion gossip. And

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

it's getting louder.

First, it was the Mountie hats. A court decision decreeing that Sikhs could legally wear turbans while handing out parking tickets on horseback plunged the country into two bitterly divided camps. On the pro-Choice side were the Canucks who thought that turbans were fine—and while we're at it, why not bicycle helmets, yarmulkes, feathered headdresses, Raiders-of-the-Lost-Ark fedoras and Beanies-with-propellers too?

These Bolshevik faddists were strenuously opposed by the Traditionalists—staunch, loyal patriots who liked the Mountie hat just the way it was, thank you very much.

If I understand the kernel of the Traditionalist positions it's "if the hat is good enough for Smokey the Bear it's good enough, by God, for Canada's finest."

But the Mountie hat is not the only brush fire on the fashion front. Ed Werenich has joined the fray as well. A few weeks back, on his way to the World Curling Championship, Ed got his rocks off about the deteriorating dress codes for curlers.

Moving ambulances to Allsaw jeopardizes lives

Editor:

I was shocked by the Editorial Cartoon in Monday's Times (May 7). The cartoon depicts an Ambulance and Fire Station attached to the County Complex at The Allsaw Flats. I hope the concept is a third station, because, if the idea is to combine the Haliburton and Minden Services it will be the biggest mistake in County History.

Unlike the Police, that must be visible in the community and be on the road, the Ambulance and Fire Services are stationary services. First of all the Fire departments are volunteer and it would be ridiculous to have volunteers drive to Allsaw to get their equipment and drive back to Minden or Haliburton for a fire. Moving them (the Fire Departments) to Allsaw would take them away from areas that have the higher potential for fires.

Second, Ambulance stations are normally located in areas of population concentration. This reduces the response time to the majority of life-saving calls.

Let's be perfectly clear. An ambulance cannot be in all places at all times. There will be times when the closest ambulance is busy and a back-up ambulance is further away. You plan for this to be the exception, not the rule.

Centralizing the Haliburton County Ambulance service at the Allsaw Flats would only make sense financially, if you were talking local taxes. The ambulance service is 100% funded by the Province and realistically you would be playing with people's lives and this is not acceptable.

Moving the Haliburton Station 10 to 20 minutes further west of Haliburton (time depends on weather conditions) jeopardizes the lives in Wilberforce, Harcourt, Kennis Lake, etc.

Moving the Minden Station 10 to 20 minutes east of Minden means the area north of Norland will be covered by Fenelon Falls (increasing the response time to these citizens). Also, the Minden station's area of coverage extends to just south of Dorset. The response time to the citizens north would be dangerously increased.

Economical viability is not always in the best interest of the people. Although Anson, Hindon and Minden administers the Ambulance Service in Haliburton County for the Ministry of Health, the funds are 100% Provincial and we must consider all the communities of the County.

After saying all this, I hope I am wrong about the comment in the April 30 paper and the cartoon May 7 on centralizing the Ambulance Stations. I feel I should speak out now before a terrible mistake is made.

Gary Bloor,
Minden.

Lumber support

NOTE: The following letter is addressed to the Minister of Natural Resources.

Dear Hon. Lyn McLeod:

We would like to lend our support to Martin Lumber, to see that the complete transfer of all timber rights is carried out expediently.

This transfer is necessary to continue a more positive economic outlook for the people of this county.

Sincerely,
Lyn Stevens

...but take a look at what they're wearing

Dress codes for curlers??? Is this David Letterman sketch?

Nope, Ed was serious. He hates those track suits that European curling teams wear. "It's like a pyjama party. They look like they should be out jogging instead of curling." The Canadian skip favours the time-honoured.

Well, whether or not you agree with him, you have to admire Ed'schutzpah. Here's a guy with the silhouette of a municipal water tank telling us what's chic and what is not.

I'm not saying that Ed is unduly chunky..but he is the only member of Canadian Men's Curling Team who was forced to wear a Tshirt with the message "I am not the zamboni, please get off my back."

And as if fashion uncertainty on the curling sheets and in the Mountie's saddles of the nation wasn't turmoil enough, we've got vogue vagueness in the Post Office as well.

Canada Post nabobs chose the Spring of '90 to unveil their all-new 'Posties On The Job' Fashion Line. Were the 27,000 new uniforms (trousers, shorts, jackets and baseball caps all in acrylic royal blue) a critical hit? Well, they took the Canadian Union of Postal Workers collective breath away.

Most of it anyway. The Posties still had enough wind left to say words like "ugly", "baggy", "synthetic" and "clownish".

"Most people could leave the Post Office and start working at Burger King without changing clothes" said one official. Looking sideways at the 'transparent-when-wet' top, a female letter carrier commented "I'm not too fond of entering wet T-shirts contests".

Ah, me. Costume quandary and unifrom uproar everywhere you look, these days. Personally, I don't know what the Mounties, Ed Werenich and the Posties are whining about. Those new get-ups aren't so bad. Somebody should tell 'em to straighten up and stop complaining or we'll hit them with some truly hideous uniforms.

Let's see now...the Vancouver Canucks are out of the playoffs, aren't they?

Aussie politicians 'green' with voter envy

Having been in Australia for two weeks, I'm finally getting the hang of their electoral method.

It's fascinating to look at the significant differences from and yet similarities to our own.

For starters, every adult is required by law to vote at the federal and state levels, thus ensuring about 95 per cent turnout. Failure to vote brings a fine but I have not encountered anyone who finds this an intolerable imposition of the state on individual liberty. Hurricane Ivor swept across Queensland during the election and flooding made some roads impossible.

So for several days, the entire country had to wait until a couple of thousand stranded voters were able to straggle into the polling booths.

Of great relevance to Canada's proponents of Senate reform, the Australian Senate is elected to counter the concentration of power in the populous areas. Every six years, half the senators stand for office. All states but the lightly populated Northern Territories and ACT, the district where Canberra, the federal capital is located, have 12 senators. The latter two have two each. Australia's Senate does not introduce legislation, but senators can become ministers in the cabinet.

The entire House of Representatives, on the other hand, is voted in at every election that has to be called within three years. What makes the Aussie form of democracy so different is the requirement that winners must get a majority of the votes. The voter must indicate the order of preference for the candidates listed. When the ballots are tallied, the sequence of preferences is recorded and if no one has a majority, the bottom candidates are knocked off and the voter's next preference added in to the remainder. This goes on until someone has more than 50 per cent. In tight elections like this one, this means that it may take several days to get the final results.

One of the cliffhangers involved Charles Blunt, the leader of the National Party. Although he polled the most first choice votes, Helen Caldicott, the

by Dr. David Suzuki

famed physician and peace activist, came in second. She ran as an Independent on peace and environmental issues and trailed Blunt by about 7,000 votes. Because she was expected to inherit most of the green votes as second choice, she was widely predicted to forge into the lead on the count of second choices. For a couple of days, it looked like she and another elected Independent would actually hold the balance of power in a deadlocked government and the press treated them like kingmakers.

But Caldicott failed to get the expected votes and fell to third and at this time (March 30) the Labor candidate seems about to win. Complicated isn't it?

The interesting part of this election was the role of a very influential "greenie" vote. While all of the parties invoked the word "green" and "environment" as one of the highest priorities, Labor deliberately courted the green vote.

Senator Graham Richardson, the Labor government's environment minister, recognized that the environmental vote was significant and could be crucial in the tight election on March 24. So he targeted them while keeping Labor MPs from making environmentally unfriendly statements. In the last days before the election, Labor is said to have spent close to $2 million for advertising aimed directly at greens.

Green leaders like Peter Garrett, the charismatic lead singer with Midnight Oil (and president of the Australian Conservation Foundation) recommended that green mark Democrats first and Labor second.

The Democrats scored a significant increase, collecting more than 10 per cent of the vote. But Richardson's strategy worked as their second choices went to Labor. He calculates that 20 Labor candidates in marginal ridings won on the basis of that green second choice! For Prime Minister Bob Hawke, the loss of three or four seats would have robbed him of an unprecedented fourth term.

The Greens are now a very real political force. But they received a shock almost as soon as Labor's victory was confirmed five days after the election. Richardson announced that he was resigning the environment portfolio because he wanted a change. At the same time, Senator Peter Walsh, the outspoken minister of finance, launched a tirade, accusing the Labor party of becoming hostages to pressure groups. He decried the sacrifice of economic growth at the altar of environmental protection. High environmental standards, he said, were a luxury that only rich countries can afford. The Australian press implied that Hawke's successor-in-waiting, Treasurer Paul Keating was also anxious to stop the Labor party's courting of the greenies.

It was a bitter awakening for the green movement. As Canadians have seen, government can claim to put a high priority on the environment, but economic priorities are invariably rank higher. So Finance Minister Michael Wilson's obsession with our debt and Energy Minister Jake Epp's remarks that jobs and profit must come before the environment, reveal that the greening of government is primarily cosmetic.

In Australia as in Canada, the major political parties have not grasped the simple truth that our economy, indeed our very survival, is absolutely dependent on the quality of the ecosphere. If air, water, soil and biological diversity, which support all life on Earth, continue to be degraded, the economic effects will be catastrophic. We have come to some understanding and agreement on the fundamental things that keep us alive so that then we can begin the profound but difficult process of finding ways to accommodate our economic needs.

Council commended on stand against move to Allsaw

Editor:

A County Town is "the seat of the Administration of a County". This is taken from the Oxford English Dictionary on Historical Principles.

The Act to incorporate the Municipality of Haliburton, and to provide for its becoming a Provisional County is contained in chapter 65 of the Ontario Statutes. This statute was passed into law on March 24, 1874, taking certain townships from Peterborough, Victoria and Nipissing. (Despite prolonged research, I have been unable to find any part of this Act rescinded). The County was formed mainly to promote the building of the Victoria Railway to Haliburton County.

The sum of $55,000 was raised to assist the funding of the railroad, by the people of Haliburton County. The Victoria Railway Act was signed into law August 15, 1874 at the County Town of Minden.

Minden became the "County Town" at a meeting on April 17, 1874 when the entire populace of the County, with only one dissenting vote, declared their approval of making Minden the seat of the new Provisional County.

The above is only a small portion of the material available in Archives and Libraries for anyone wishing to research the rich and absorbing history of Haliburton County. The Statute, passed in 1874, clearly states that the Registry Office, Court House and jail will remain in the County Seat. If the offices of record are removed from Minden, so must the designation of "County Town". To do this, a public vote would be required.

For 116 years, people have been successfully finding their way to the County Seat, either by foot, by river, horse and buggy or sleighs in pioneer days, and later by motor vehicles. Today we are privileged to have more and better roads, not to mention our comfortable motor cars.

Why then, the need for a more central location? I accept the decision to enlarge and upgrade our county buildings. I do not accept the decision to remove them entirely from Minden. The cost of unserved land in the county will be less than in town, until you add the cost of an environmental study, water and sewage. Surely there are adequate sites remaining in Minden. From a lay person's point of view, I would suggest the area in the general vicinity of Motorways Transport and the Fairgrounds;

Bobcaygeon Road in general; the Deep Bay Road; Highway 35; perhaps behind the present County Buildings, or Registry Offices. Expropriation is not the ideal answer, but it might be the only one.

Mr. Moore has rightly asked for our input. Let the County know your views, whatever they may be.

The Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden should be commended on their stand on this issue. The residents of Minden should be aware of the long-term results of the gradual eroding of the town. Minden should grow, be a place where young people will remain and become involved; where older people will be proud to come and retire.

The decision of the County Council to relocate the County buildings away from the County Seat was ill-advised. It must be determined if, in fact, they have the legal right to make this decision.

Ada I. Campbell,
Minden.

Road improvements narrowminded

Editor:

Downtown improvements?

Spending $170,000 to narrow intersections to the point where two cars can barely make a corner safely, let alone any larger vehicles—school buses, trucks or tour buses?

If the major reason for the construction was to cut down on double parking, or parking too close to the corners on Main Street, the money could have been better used by hiring someone to patrol Main Street and give out parking tickets.

It would seem our narrow streets go hand in hand with our narrow-minded council.

More to health plan than chronic care beds

Health committee vice-chairman Carole Craigmyle says focusing on 18 beds is tunnel vision

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The ongoing study into Haliburton's long-term health care needs involves much more than just the fate of the proposed 18-bed chronic care facility for Haliburton Hospital, says the steering committee's vice-chairman.

"There's more out there that we can draw from," Carole Craigmyle said in an interview last week. "It would have been a shame to have money allotted for the beds and nothing else."

Craigmyle is one of 13 Haliburton County residents serving on the committee that is devising a directional plan for Haliburton's long-term health, housing and social services needs.

The study is being carried out as part of the provincial government's reform of health care in Ontario.

For many people, the focus of health care in Haliburton County is the proposed 18 chronic care beds, approval of which has been put on hold pending the outcome of the committee's recommendations.

Although Craigmyle was an outspoken supporter of the 18 beds, she says serving on the committee has taught her that the beds are only one piece of the overall health care picture.

"When I found out I was on the committee I blocked the 18 beds out of my mind because I knew I had a job to do," she said.

But serving on the committee made Craigmyle realize the directional plan offers Haliburton County more options than just the chronic care facility. She hopes that through the open houses being held by the committee in late June residents of the county will understand the opportunity the directional plan presents.

Committee chairman Maureen Dikun agrees. "If the ministry had said yes to the 18 beds and no extra, that would have accommodated only 18 people. And they may have been in the beds for five or 10 years," she said. "There may still be chronic care beds, and there will be other improvements as well."

There has also been speculation that the Ministry of Health will influence the committee to come to a foregone conclusion about health care in the county.

But Craigmyle says that, as a local resident serving on the committee, she's seen no evidence of the ministry trying to sway the outcome. "We don't hear an awful lot from the ministry people that we don't want to," she says. "They're not pushing us one way or another."

Whatever recommendations come out of the directional plan, Craigmyle says the study will result in improvements for county residents.

"This will be good regardless of the outcome," she said. "I hope the rest of the community will agree. It's been a benefit to me to understand where we could go with health care to make things better.

"I think looking at just the 18 beds is real tunnel vision," said Craigmyle. "It seemed like such a devastating thing when (Health Minister) Elinor Caplan said no to those beds. No one realized when the study started how much more there is out there."

"Eighteen beds only suit 18 people. More people than that can benefit from projects available to us."

There has been recent concern about what will happen to the money raised locally for the chronic care facility. Craigmyle says the committee has to be careful that the controversy does not interfere with the study.

"It's easy to get caught up in the money situation," she says. "But we Journalism student Carol Moffatt has joined the Times staff for the summer as a reporter/photographer.

Summer Times

The Times welcomes a new summer student to the Highlands. Carol Moffatt is a native of Toronto but is no stranger to Haliburton County. Her family has had a cottage in the Carnarvon area since 1942 and she has spent many years exploring and enjoying the Highlands.

"I couldn't think of a better place to work. I don't like the city much, I'm not sure why I live there," she says.

Moffatt graduated from the University of Toronto in 1987 with a degree in Criminal Psychology, a degree she calls interesting but useless. After graduation Moffatt worked in several administrative positions including stints in sales, personnel and advertising.

In 1988, she packed up and went to Australia. For six months she backpacked around the country by herself.

"It was the best thing I've ever done and if I had the money I'd be there now," she says.

The decision to return to writing, a childhood passion, came after the strenuous climb to the top of Ayer's Rock in Australia's outback. "It was like in the movies. There I stood, wind whipping my hair about, exhausted from this tortuous climb and suddenly I knew I was going back to school for journalism," she says.

Moffatt is currently taking Humber College's graduate course but feels she has learned more in two weeks at the Times than in seven months at college. "I don't think any school can prepare you for the real world," she says.

Her first two weeks at the Times have been interesting and fun, says Moffatt. "I think I quite like this journalism thing," she says.

Pet owners 'flea' to new business

by Carol Moffatt

Just in time for summer, when Fido finds the heat unbearable and rivers and fields irresistible, K-9 Clippers has arrived in Minden.

Sisters Laura Thorn and Cathy Fisher have opened up a dog grooming shop in McMahon Feeds on Main Street and pet owners are already flocking to the new business.

After the pair completed an eight-week grooming course in Barrie, Jim McMahon approached them and offered them the back of his store. On May 1, the doors opened and "...the response has been really good," said Fisher.

Fisher used to work for Fred Simmons Construction. Thorn worked at the Rockcliffe, then at the Bank of Commerce.

"We've always talked about wanting to open our own business," said Fisher. "There's definitely a need for this in town," added Thorn. "We raise poodles and boxers and people would always ask us if we groomed dogs." The transition, then, was a logical one.

Thorn and Fisher praised McMahon's helpfulness in getting them started. "Jim's been so helpful," said Fisher. Thorn agreed: "Everything happened at once. All of a sudden he built this room and here we were."

There is also a silent partner in K-9 Clippers. Elizabeth Lyddiatt currently minds her children as well as those of Thorn and Fisher. When the kids are school-aged, Lyddiatt will join the team "... when we put an addition on," said Thorn.

The shop is small but well-equipped. Thorn and Fisher say they can get any dog into the bath; they've only had one problem dog, but in the end it had a bath. Two muzzles hang on the wall but they've only used one once. They are quick to point out, as their business cards say, they don't use sedation to calm frightened animals. Instead they utilize their natural rapport with animals.

"Talking to them makes them comfortable. And using their names a lot," said Thorn. "Just get them away from their owners and they're fine," said Fisher. "Just like kids."

Beach development troubles association

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Plans to develop a new public beach on Horseshoe Lake have concerned the Horseshoe Lake Property Owners Association.

At their April 23 meeting, the Minden Parks Committee drafted their proposed budget which included $6,000 for a Horseshoe Lake beach project.

At last Thursday's council meeting, association member Richard Kinsmen expressed concern that the money was going to be used to develop the Curtiss subdivision property.

Kinsmen said the association feels the property is not an appropriate location to develop a public beach and suggested the money could be better spent elsewhere.

He said there are already two developed beaches on the lake and the township would be better off spending the $6,000 to improve one of the existing sites.

Councillor Bob Sisson, who sits on the Parks Committee, said that although the Curtiss location was one possibility for a beach development, the township has other options. In requesting the funds, Sisson said the committee is just looking to open a beach somewhere in the township, possibly on Horseshoe lake.

Sisson said the existing beaches on Horseshoe are overcrowded which is why another facility would be desirable.

"How many parks do you need on a lake?" asked Kinsmen.

Councillor Mike Maher said that if Minden ends up hosting the white water races as part of the 1996 Olympics, the Curtiss site might have to be used as parkland, or parking, to accommodate the spectators. Maher also said there may be government grants available to develop the site.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said the concerns will be addressed when the municipal budget is set and the parks' budget is trimmed.

OMB hearing for by-law awaits MOE comments

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Ontario Municipal Board hearing for Minden's comprehensive zoning by-law will be scheduled as soon as the board receives comments from the Ministry of the Environment regarding the controversial Gull River flood plain.

The by-law was passed by the previous council after a great deal of debate over the by-law's provisions for flood plain mapping and development restrictions in flood-prone areas.

Immediately after the passage, several residents filed objections to the by-law sending it to the OMB for a decision.

But before the OMB could convene a hearing, it had to wait to receive comments from various provincial agencies and ministries including the Ministry of the Environment and the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Graham Wales, a natural resources staff member who was involved in the flood plain mapping for the by-law, said his ministry has now submitted its comments to the OMB.

"The most recent mapping being included addresses the flood plain along the Gull River to our satisfaction," said Wales. "We've submitted our favourable comments to the OMB."

But according to the Ontario Municipal Board office in Toronto, no hearing date can be set until comments are received from the Ministry of the Environment regarding the Official Plan Amendment dealing with the flood plain.

The Official Plan Amendments and zoning by-law were passed and submitted together by the municipality.

The by-law and amendments were passed by the previous council in late 1988 as one of their final acts before giving up their seats to the newly-elected mem-

Little Hawk wharf falling apart

Warning signs posted

by Carol Moffatt

The government wharf on Little Hawk Lake is in such dis-repair that Stanhope Council has to put a warning sign on it. The wharf, built in 1957, is falling apart and the township is concerned someone might get hurt.

"We're going to put up a 'use at your own risk' sign before next weekend," said Jim Moore, Stanhope's Chief Building Inspector. Moore said the wharf is a hazard but getting a government inspector to come and look at it is difficult.

The wharf is owned by the Department of Fisheries and Oceans - Small Craft Harbor Branch, but the responsibility of maintainance is that of the township. Moore has spoken to Dwayne Blanchard of the Fisheries Department about the condition of the wharf, but Blanchard told him there simply wasn't any federal money to repair or replace the wharf. The cost Blanchard quoted was approximately $4,000 per section and there are four sections to the wharf.

Sharon Hewson and her husband recently took over the operation of Oakview Lodge which sits directly in front of the wharf. She has been working to get something done about the wharf for some time. "We've been spending time and money improving the property in the area and we feel it's an eyesore. It's not painted or anything," she said.

Hewson has written letters of inquiry to the federal government and to the township, but not much is happening. The township can't maintain it without money from the government and the government says it has no money for maintainance.

Both Moore and Hewson said this past winter took its toll on the wharf. Hewson said two sections were pushed up into an 'A' shape from the ice. Moore said the planks of the wharf are so old and rotted that "you could push your finger through some places."

Moore wrote a letter to Blanchard, who is based in Burlington, on May seventh and he is waiting for a reply.

The wharf at Little Hawk Lake sits askew on the water. Stanhope Council is trying to get money to replace the four sections, one of which is broken in two (left).

Sled dogs headed to Olympics?

by Carol Moffatt

The International Olympic Committee wants to talk to Val Loughheed. The President of the Canadian Federation of Sleddog Sports (CFSS) is going to Vienna on July first to convince the IOC that sled dog racing should be an Olympic sport. "It really is very exciting," she said. "And I'm so proud of Minden," she added.

In 1985 a group of mushers involved with the International Dog Sled Racing Association decided to recommend the racing to the IOC. They found they needed to meet certain requirements which included belonging to the General Association of International Sports Federation (GAISF).

To gain membership in GAISF they had to slightly re-organize.

All GAISF members belong to the International Federation of Sleddog Sports (IFSS) and now eleven countries, including Canada, belong to it. Canada developed its own federation, the CFSS, and Val Loughheed was asked to be its president.

"I'm sure I was asked to be the president because the Minden race is so well respected," said Loughheed, who is the Race Governor of Minden.

Loughheed said going on this trip is important for the credibility and visibility of the race in Minden. "It's a wonderful reflection on Minden," she said.

Loughheed and husband Steve are hoping to be in Austria for seven days during which they will tour the site of the next IFSS World Champion races. The next Winter Olympics will be held in Norway and sled dog racing will be a demonstration sport there. There was previously a demonstration in Canmore, B.C..

Trying to get the sport recognized by the IOC "involves a lot of lobbying by the IFSS," said Loughheed, but GAISF is working with them on the project.

Loughheed pointed out that membership to the CFSS doesn't require owning dogs and participating in races. "Anyone with an interest in the sport can join," said Loughheed, "and we're starting to build up memberships now." The membership costs only $10 a year.

Larry Tallman of Anola, Manitoba, accepts the Don Martin Award of Merit on behalf of Alva Streeper, from Minden Sled Dog Derby organizer Val Loughheed. This annual presentation is made by Martin Pet Foods of Elmira, sponsors of the Minden race, to recognize an outstanding contribution to the sport of sled dog racing in North America. For details of the award, see story below.

B.C. resident wins musher award

Alva Streeper of Fort Nelson, B.C., is the second winner of the Don Martin Award of Merit. The award is presented annually to a person who has contributed in an extraordinary way to the sport of sled-dog racing.

In announcing the award, Val Loughheed, Race Governor of the Minden Sled Dog Derby, described Streeper as a constant source of enthusiasm and energy within the Canadian mushing community for many years and the driving force behind the sled-dog race in Fort Nelson.

"Alva is one of those people," said Loughheed, "who supports sled-dog racing from behind the scenes. She doesn't race herself, but she really believes in the sport and works constantly to keep it growing. Every year, Alva initiates all the fundraising for the Fort Nelson race and lobbies corporate sponsors and government agencies. For years and years, her door has been open to mushers travelling the Alaska Highway who all know they are welcome to stop in for a meal and a bed. She is also very supportive of her two sons—Terry of Fort Nelson and Eddy of Osage, Minnesota—who are both very competitive in the sport today. We are thrilled that the ISDRA Board selected Alva as this year's winner."

Alva Streeper was announced as the 1990 winner at the annual Awards Banquet of the International Sled Dog Racing Association (ISDRA) held in Grand Rapids, Michigan, on April 21. The award was accepted on Streeper's behalf by Larry Tallman of Anola, Manitoba. The 1989 recipient was Donna Hawley, Executive Director of ISDRA.

The Don Martin Award of Merit consists of a silvered snowhook, hand-crafted by Jay Verbeek of Silver 'T' Kennels in Orillia, and $500 which has been donated to ISDRA by Martin Pet Food of Elmira in Streeper's name.

The award was created by the Minden Sled Dog Derby committee to honour a group or an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the sport of sled-dog racing. It is funded by Martin

Pet Foods, sponsor of the Minden Sled Dog Derby, and named after the company's president, Don Martin, who has been an avid supporter of sled-dog racing in general and of the Minden event in particular.

The Minden Sled Dog Derby is the world's largest limited-class speed race for sled-dogs. The seventh running will be held in the town of Minden, Ontario, on January 12 and 13, 1991.

Mark Schell models one of his retirement gifts. The party included lunch, homemade cake (below) and lots of laughs.

Mark Schell honoured with surprise retirement party

by Carol Moffatt

After working for the county for 35 years Mark Schell is retiring.

At a surprise party last Wednesday afternoon family, friends and residents of Hyland Crest wished Schell well in his retirement which begins in June.

Schell was a cook for the Haliburton High School for 19 years and has been a Food Services Supervisor at Hyland Crest for 15 years. But his duties and dedication went further than just cooking and supervising.

"We haven't had a Christmas dinner together on Christmas Day in 15 years," said Schell's son-in-law Peter Fearrey. "He's never missed cooking Christmas dinner for the residents (at Hyland Crest)," he said.

As well as cooking, overseeing the kitchen staff and generally helping with residents at Hyland Crest, Schell has been the 'in-house barber'.

"He's always gone above and beyond the call of duty," said long-time friend and Haliburton County Chief Administrative Officer Gary McKnight. "He'd go fishing and catch enough fish to come back here and put on a fish fry for the whole bunch."

In his thank-you speech Schell had to pause to wipe away a few tears. "I'll be alright," he said, laughing.

Phyllis Sutherland worked with Schell for 12 years. "It's hard to see him go," she said. "He's always been lots of fun."

Winnifred Danilko called Schell a father figure and Sydney Robinson said if anyone had a problem—personal or work-related—Schell's door was always open.

Of his impending retirement, Schell said he was ready for it. "I've got to retire," he said. "Either that or get a room here."

Plenty of White Water action planned

World Cup white water racing won't be back at the Minden Wild Water Preserve this summer, but there will still be plenty of high-calibre competition throughout the summer.

"While we don't have the World Cup Race this summer, there is lots happening for people in the Minden area to see," says Robert Grose, Community Liaison for the preserve. Three majors are scheduled for the 1990 season and there is usually plenty of activity on the weekends as paddlers get in some practice.

On June 2 and 3, the Gull River course will be the site of the Ontario Team Trials.

On July 21 and 22, paddlers will compete in the Minden Cup Slalom. And on September 8 and 9, the Trailhead Open Canoe Slalom will be held.

"Visitors are welcome at any time to visit the Preserve and take in the action and the beauty of the park," says Grose.

The Minden course was the site of World Cup races for the past two years. This year, however, local organizers are concentrating their efforts on the 1996 Olympic bid.

The Minden Wild Water Preserve will be the location of the Olympic kayak events if Toronto wins the right to host the 1996 Games.

Residents fear flood plain rules will affect property values

bers.

It was Verne Graham, Royce Miller and Reeve Sinc Nesbitt, the three council members who were leaving and voted to pass the by-law. Bob Sisson and Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry, the only two members to carry on with the new council both voted against the resolution.

Residents who are opposed to the flood plain provisions in the new by-law say the development restrictions imposed in the flood plain will have an adverse effect on property value. There is also some dispute about the accuracy of the mapping.

Along the Gull River areas of less severe flood potential, called flood fringe areas, can be considered for new development providing new buildings are flood proofed.

In areas of more serious flooding, called the flood-way, new buildings would not be permitted but additions to existing buildings can be allowed.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has also been working with Lutterworth

Township on the mapping for a flood plain policy for that municipality's zoning by-law. A public meeting regarding the maps will be held shortly.

Losers take a bath...

The response to the Energy Efficient Shower Head Contest was tremendous. Over 30 correct responses were submitted but only a lucky few were chosen by the official Times Random Winner Selector. (The same high-tech machine is used to select the winners of the Spot the Shot contest each week in 'This Week in the Highlands'.)

The winners were, in no particular order: No Weibe of Minden; Doran Lee of Cobocok; Cheryl Bye of Camp Kandalore, Minden; J.L. Orser -Madigan of Richmond Hill; and Geoffrey Robinson of Minden.

From this random selection, it appears that the ladies are more knowledgeable about energy efficiency than the fellows.

The winners each receive a lovely energy-efficient shower head compliments of Ontario Hydro for their favorite bathing establishment. The prizes can be picked up at The Times, Main Street, Minden between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Watch here for the next Times sponsored contest... coming soon.

Tourist kiosk planned for highway

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Scenic Highway 35 Association wants to establish an information kiosk at the corner of Highways 35 and 118 and is asking Stanhope and Minden councils for financial assistance.

Association representative Gary Grosschadl and Jochim Matysek attended last Thursday's Minden council meeting to try to drum up support for their proposal.

Matysek said the idea of the kiosk is to provide a place where tourists can get information about the area seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

The information in the self-serve facility would be in the form of advertisements bought by local businesses which would be displayed on a board.

The association has been in contact with the owner of the new PetroCan station opening at the corner of Highways 118 and 35 about placing the kiosk at the gas station.

The initial cost of the kiosk will be $3,500 and Grosschadl said the association is hoping the two townships will split the costs, each paying $1,750.

Once the materials have been purchased, Grosschadl said the association would be responsible for designing, building and maintaining the facility.

Councillor Lewis Steven questioned the location of the kiosk, saying that by the time northbound traffic reached the junction of the two highways, they've already travelled through most of the township.

Grosschadl said the location is ideal because it will serve traffic travelling both ways on two major highways into the area.

The first location will serve as a pilot project, said Matysek. If the first kiosk is a success, he said the association plans to establish similar units on Highway 35 south of Minden and at the junction of Highways 35 and 60 north of Dorset.

Because the association wants the kiosk to be publicly funded, Matysek said the advertising space would be available to anyone, not just association members.

The revenue generated by the sale of the advertising would be used by the association to further promote the area, said Matysek.

Councillor Mike Maher asked if municipal funding for the first kiosk would be "seed money" and any subsequent kiosks would be financed by money generated from the pilot facility.

But Matysek said the association would probably ask for grants to establish other kiosks from the townships they would benefit.

"As an association, we're not cash rich," said Grosschadl. "All our money goes into promotion." He said the association would only be looking for material costs for each of the kiosks and the construction and maintenance would be the responsibility of the association.

The association has already approached Stanhope township with the idea, and although the proposal was favourably received, Grosschadl said Stanhope will consider the request for funding during its annual budget deliberations during the next two weeks.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said Minden council is also in the process of setting this year's budget, and with council aiming to limit a tax increase to seven per cent, he said the situation will be tight.

Maher said that considering the fact that Ride for Sight is now being held in Peterborough instead of Minden, council could look at using the savings to the promotion budget for the kiosks.

Grosschadl asked council if the outcome of Stanhope's decision will have any effect on Minden's ability to fund the project.

Councillor Bob Sisson said that without Stanhope's participation, Minden will not be able to afford to pay the entire $3,500 on its own.

Site plan agreement for bowling alley approved

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council has approved a site plan agreement for the proposed bowling alley to be located on Bobcaygeon Road.

Developers Terry Clarke and Darryl Moore were at last Thursday's council meeting and presented councillors with updated plans of their proposal.

Clarke told council that construction of the facility has to get underway very shortly if the alley is to be opened for the start of the bowling season in September.

The original proposal included apartments above the bowling alley, but the plans have been changed to meet parking requirements.

By-law officer Tom Hubercheck said he has concerns that the layout for the parking spaces will make it difficult for some cars to manoeuvre.

The plans call for the bowling alley to be located right against the property line between the lot and the neighbouring property now owned by Brad Bradamore.

Until Bradamore's property is rezoned as commercial, Hubercheck said the township's by-law requires a setback. Because Bradamore has applied for the rezoning, council agreed to approve the site plan agreement without the setback.

Moore and Clarke also agreed to pay their share of the sidewalk improvements that will be carried out along the stretch of Bobcaygeon Road where the alley will be located.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said the bowling alley should be "an impressive looking building that will enhance Main Street."

Hospital funds not an issue for committee have to remove ourselves. I don't know what will happen to the money, that's not our job. We have to do the study, do it well and make the best recommendations.

"It will be an issue for quite a while, and it won't be easily resolved, but it's not our issue as a committee."

Although she hopes it's not the case, Craigmyle said she realizes the committee members will probably have to try to sell the committee's recommendations to the community.

"I'm hoping the open houses will help the situation, but I think I may have to be a salesman. There will probably be a number of people who have to be convinced."

Although the committee still has a lot of work to do before it can start making recommendations and drafting the directional plan, Craigmyle says she's already identified some initiatives she thinks would be good for the county. "But there's so many directions we go," she said.

"It's one thing for me to say we need this, and this and this, but there are other people who have real serious needs," she said. "The open houses will allow us to get information from them."

"We will be able to draw our recommendations with feedback we get from the open houses and the focus groups."

The committee's health analyst, Anne Gallant, says that there is a commitment on the part of the province to put the initiatives recommended by the committee into place.

Gallant says because the government's health care reform program and the Haliburton County study are occurring simultaneously, there has to be constant communication to ensure compatibility.

"Provincially, we know what they are doing, and they know what we are doing," says Gallant. "If there is some hidden agenda, I don't know what it is."

Review of County health study committee

In order to review the activities of the Steering Committee to date, Health Planning Analyst Anne Gallant has prepared this overview of the committee's mandate, the purpose of the study and a summary of activities.

In September 1989, Health Minister Elinor Caplan met with local health care providers and community representatives in Haliburton community to re-examine health care needs and services in light of new developments in the proposed provision of longterm care and community-based services.

In November of 1989 a Steering Committee was formed to guide the development of a directional plan for health, housing and social support services in Haliburton County. Membership on the Steering Committee includes representation from service providers and consumers within Haliburton County, as well as resource people representing Ministry of Health, Ministry of Community and Social Services and Ministry of Housing.

At the same time as the Directional Plan project is being undertaken in Haliburton County, a provincial Task Force has been meeting to direct the reform of longterm care in Ontario. The reform of longterm care will result in changes in the funding of existing longterm care beds, strengthening of community support services such as Home Care and attendant care programs, the development of single entry programs for longterm care and community services.

The purpose of the Haliburton Steering Committee is to develop a plan for the County which will coordinate the provision of services related to health, housing and social support services. The plan will focus on the longterm needs of the County, looking at ways to strengthen existing services and to provide services that may be lacking at the present time. The provincial reform in longterm care provides a framework to develop recommendations that are specific to Haliburton County.

Haliburton is one of numerous communities in Ontario that has been requested to review the need for services. The directional plan project in Haliburton County is unique in that health, housing and social support needs are being considered. As well, resources have been set aside from the beginning of the project to fund an implementation phase for the directional plan that is developed. The implementation phase will provide staff to ensure that the recommendations made by the Steering Committee are followed up.

An important aspect of this committee's work will be to examine how services can be improved to allow individuals requiring special care to remain in their homes for as long as possible. The Directional Plan project includes seven components to assess the need for services in Haliburton County:

- * socio-demographic profile of Haliburton County including population projections, family patterns, household formation, seasonal population and transportation/communication patterns, for example.

- * service delivery inventory survey to document the network of existing health, housing and social support services in Haliburton County.

- * document the use of existing community and institutional services in Haliburton County.

- * focus group meetings with physicians, service providers seniors/physically challenged individuals, municipal representatives, informal caregivers/family of long-term care residents.

- * community open houses to provide the community with an opportunity to find out about services available in the County as well as the directional plan project; visitors to the community open houses will have an opportunity to ask questions.

- * assessment of levels of care regarding longterm care in institutions and the community using surveys.

- * written public submissions to the Steering Committee from the public outlining their concerns regarding the needs for health, housing and social support services.

The components of the project that are outlined above allow the Steering Committee to consider both objective, statistical data and subjective information provided by residents and service providers in the County. The plan that is developed must take into account both types of information.

ACTIVITIES OF THE DIRECTIONAL PLAN STEERING COMMITTEE TO DATE

December (1989)

- development of the terms of reference for the directional plan project.

- first meeting of the Steering Committee held on December 19th at Hyland Crest in Minden

The Victoria-Haliburton Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Ileitis and Colitis is trying to improve its presence in the highlands. Last week, Cheryl McDonald and Aletha Rice were making their rounds in Minden and Haliburton putting up posters and handing out information about their worth cause. The 'Strike Out' program promoted in this poster asks you to pledge any amount of money for every strike out achieved by a major league ball team. Through these pledges, CFIC hopes to strike out the pain and suffering of thousands of Canadians. Ileitis and Colitis are forms of inflammatory bowel disease, a chronic and non-contagious disease with no known cause or cure. CFIC is a voluntary non-profit medical foundation with more than 9,000 members in 75 chapters across Canada. The 'Strike Out' posters and accompanying pledge sheets are available in Minden and Haliburton at the Bank of Commerce, the IGA and the Valu-Mart.

MNR prepares for aerial assault on Gypsy moths

Helicopters will soon be seen hovering over Gull Lake as crews prepare for the first battle against Gypsy Moths in this county.

Gary Clements, from the Ministry of Natural Resources, says the egg masses left last fall by the moths are now starting to hatch and in another few weeks the tiny caterpillars will be at the stage where an aerial spray program will be effective.

Gypsy Moth caterpillars devour the leaves from trees and are capable of defoliating entire forests if numbers are high enough. The insects were first discovered in high concentrations here last fall by residents of the Gull Lake area of Lutterworth Township. County council immediately set out to ensure a spray program, similar to those conducted in other parts of the province, could be carried out this spring.

According to Clements, the program to be carried out here is part of the Apsley Spray Block, which covers an area from Tweed to Gull Lake. Only areas where concentrations of the destructive insect are present will be sprayed with the consent of property owners. Within the Apsley Spray Block, 600 hectares of forest will be sprayed. Throughout Ontario, 3,500 hectares will be sprayed.

Ministry staff from Tweed are handling the spray program, said Clements.

The insecticide to be used is Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt). It is a biological spray that has been in use for 20 years, said Clements. Since the ingredients of this spray occur naturally in the environment, no adverse effects have been identified.

Except for the presence of the helicopters, Clements says it will be difficult to tell that a spray program is being conducted. The helicopters will soar over the treetops, releasing a fine mist of Bt.

Clements says no precautions are necessary for people on the ground, since the spray only harms the insects. However, is some of the spray lands on food or a picnic table, he says they should be washed off with water.

Spraying will only be done in ideal weather conditions, when there is no wind, said Clements. Therefore, it is likely it will be done at dawn or in the early evening.

The first spraying will be carried out when the caterpillars grow to about one half inch in length. At this point the caterpillars are eating volumes of leaves, yet are still young enough to be killed by the Bt. A second spraying will be done between five and 15 days later.

The spraying works by coating the leaves with Bt, which is then eaten by the caterpillars. Once ingested, the Bt works on the insects' nervous system and ultimately kills them.

Timing the spraying with the growth of the caterpillars is important, though. The larger the caterpillars get, the less likely it is that they will be killed by the spray.

Although aerial spraying has proven successful in controlling the population of Gypsy Moths—and the resulting damage—it will not rid the area completely of their presence. Therefore, annual sprayings have been necessary.

This year's spray program is being carried out with financial and technical assistance from the ministry.

However, funding for this service is scheduled to wind up next year. Haliburton County Council is working with neighbouring counties to petition the ministry to extend its funding for this program.

H.A.V.E. THANKS OUR SPONSORS

Two trees along the Gull River fell victim to the high winds late last week. This tree, located next to the bridge on Minden's Main Street, crashed into the river Friday around noon. Another tree, further up the river, came down Thursday evening. The exposed stumps show that the towering willow trees were weakened by internal rot.

Mum's the winning word

Three mothers in the Minden area enjoyed an extra surprise this past weekend. They were named the three winners in The Times Salute to Mothers contest.

The winner of the grand prize of a $50 gift certificate was Brenda Fendley. She was nominated by Terry Simpson and Adam Fendley. Brenda lives near Minden.

The second prize winner was Marjorie Coulter of Minden. Her name was submitted by her daughter Beverly Johnson. She wins a lovely Mother's Day bouquet of flowers. The winner of the third prize was Dawn Alton also of Minden. Her name was entered by her daughter Donna Mann. She received box of chocolates to mark the special day.

The Salute to Mothers was sponsored by area merchants and The Times. Our thanks to the many area businesses who sponsored this contest and the many sons and daughters who sent entries.

- communication sub-committee meetings held on May 8th to develop press release, discuss protocol for requests for written public submissions to the Steering Committee.

- meeting of the data analysis sub-committee to be held May 15th to plan AAPI assessment survey.

Opportunities for community participation in the directional plan project include attendance at the community open houses in the County, invited participation in focus group meetings and written submissions to the Steering Committee.

The Directional Plan Steering Committee anticipate that the directional plan for Haliburton County will be completed by October 1990. The Steering Committee will continue to meet during the coming summer months to assess the data that is collected and to develop the directional plan recommendations.

MTC funding for County

Seven municipalities in Haliburton will receive over $630,000 for road repairs.

The plan, announced by MPP John Eakins, calls for a total funding of $1.3 million to Haliburton and Victoria counties. The funds, provided through the Ministry of Transportation, are in addition to the regular annual subsidies provided by the ministry for road work.

Minden will receive $76,400 for construction to Bobcaygeon Road North; Cardiff will get $22,400 for the reconstruction of Lewis Line (West Baptiste Rd.), and Snowdon will get $15,000 for the surfacing of Ritchie Falls Rd.

Dysart et al will receive $90,000 for a new grader; Glamorgan will get $29,100 to buy a six-ton snowplow truck, and Lutterworth will get $39,900 towards a plow truck and sander.

Eakins said the government of Ontario is committed to roads and highway as generators of economic growth and as links for families and emergency services. "This additional funding reinforces that commitment," he said.

That eerie glow you may have noticed in the sky Friday night wasn't Northern Lights. It was the lights at Minden's new ball park. Councillors were out for a good look at the new diamond and they liked what they saw. And so will most baseball players. The diamond comes complete with an electronic scoreboard, dug-outs, and excellent lighting. This new facility behind the arena has made it possible to organize a minor baseball league in Minden for this summer. Seen here beneath the new scoreboard are Mike Maher, Bern Berry, Bob Sisson, Lewis Stevens, Jim and Doug Allison and Ivan Ingram. Allison Construction is the firm that did most of the work in developing this new diamond.

Townhouse opponents lodge complaint over addition

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Neighbours of the new townhouse development on Parkside Cres. have lodged an objection to a proposal to expand the development by three more units.

Gord Samells, who lives to the north of the townhouses, presented council with a 20-name petition opposing the construction of the new units.

Samells claims the land being used for the addition is not zoned for townhouses and asked council to lay charges against the developer, Mark Rutale.

The property in question is a 45-foot strip of land which lays between the existing townhouses and the Sunrise Apartments. Rutale is planning to build three more townhouse units on the land to add to the 13 which have already been built.

Samells said the strip of land between the apart-

Bicycle safety campaign underway

Ontario Transportation Minister William Wrye has launched his ministry's spring bicycle safety campaign.

Bicycle retailers will be the main target group of this year's bicycle campaign and all bicycle shops across the province will receive kits containing promotional materials.

This year, the Ministry is emphasizing the importance of helmet use by all cyclists, both adults and children.

"Head injuries are the leading cause of bicycle fatalities," Wrye said. "U.S. studies show that 75 per cent of bicycling fatalities are related to head trauma."

A bicycle handlebar tag has been produced by the Ministry to be placed on all new bicycles. It says, "Be Head Smart, Wear A Helmet - Your head is worth it!"

The campaign is also asking bicyclists not to be "road warriors" and motorists not to be "road hogs".

The Ministry, together with the Toronto City Cycling Committee, has produced posters and pamphlets aimed at both cyclists and motorists.

They urge cyclists to follow the rules of the road, because those who don't give all bicyclists a bad reputation. Likewise, motorists should respect the rights of cyclists to use the road.

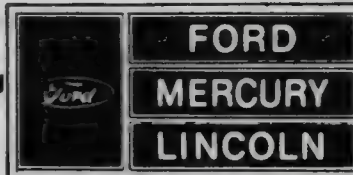

The Ministry will also distribute these materials to the cycling public through their Drivers and Vehicles Licence Issuing Offices, educational institutions, community safety organizations, police forces and cycling groups.

"It is our hope that this year's bicycle safety campaign will encourage more cyclists to wear helmets, follow the rules of the road and drive in a proper manner," said Wrye. "We also hope to increase motorists' awareness of bicyclists."

"By urging both groups to 'share the road' we can help reduce the number of accidents involving bicyclists and other motorists," Wrye concluded.

Residents want developer charged, say site isn't zoned properly

ments and the townhouses was never rezoned to R3 with the rest of Rutale's property and remains R1, the zoning for single family residences.

"May we ask, what is the reason action has not been taken to protect this R1 parcel and the adjoining R1 property owners?" asked Samells, who was reading from a prepared statement.

"This zoning non-compliance is not a recent development but has existed for at least the past six months.

"We the ordinary taxpayers, who are not speculators, developers, or regular complainers in the local press, are feeling more and more isolated from you, our elected representatives," said Samells. "Do you march only to your own drummer or to the music provided by the 'pro-development-at-any-cost' lobby?

"We who pay the largest share of the cost of running this municipality, do we not count except at election time? What must we do to make you enforce your own by-laws?" he asked.

Samells said some of the "silent majority" are now angry enough to demand that Rutale be charged under the zoning by-law and that the parcel of land be restored to its original condition.

But council said the parcel of land was rezoned at the same time the property for Sunrise Apartments was rezoned with the intent of turning the strip of land over to the apartments.

By-law officer Tom Hubercheck said Minden's zoning maps indicate the piece of property is in fact zoned R3 and as far as the township is concerned those maps are law.

Samells said he's sent copies of his concerns to the township's planner Bob Lehman, the Ontario Municipal Board and to the Planning and Development section of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and requested their input.

Councillor Mike Maher said he would welcome any direction those agencies could provide in dealing with the issue.

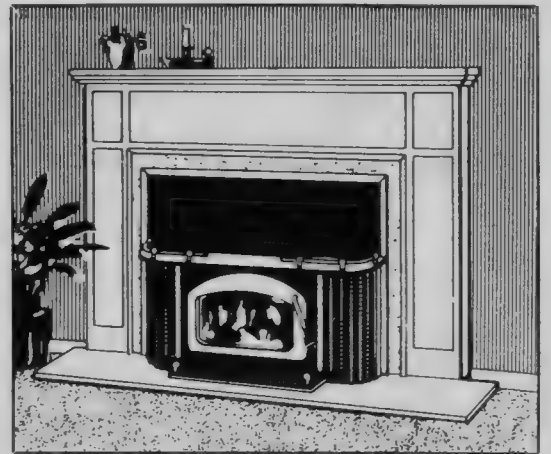

Developer Mark Rutale is planning to add three more units to his townhouse project on Parkside Cres. Local residents have sent council a petition opposing the new units, claiming that the proposed site is not zoned for townhouses.

Kinsmen have full calendar planned

The Kinsmen, Kinettes and their families did their part on Earth Day, April 22 by raking and cleaning up the entire fairground area.

At the Kinette general meeting, May 8, our guest speaker was Rheta Jones, Administrator of Highland Crest. Mrs. Jones' speech included many interesting details from her background, how she came to Minden and her future plans for the Home. Kinette, Sharon Crowe, presented a cheque for $2000 to her for the purchase of two thermometer kits and a three-position geriatric recliner chair, donated by the Minden Kinette Club.

The elections were held this evening also and our new Kinette executive for 1990-91 are as follows: President - Bev Fomenko; Vice-President - Sharon Crowe; Secretary - Sheila Carrell; Treasurer - Bev Pettes; Registrar - Sue Ripley; Bulletin Editor - Sharon Crowe; Directors - Shirley Howe, Daisy Downs, and Marg Prentice.

Congratulations girls and also to President Ruth Travers and her executive for a job well done this year.

On May 27, the Kinettes will be holding a C.F. fundraising drive at Kawartha Dairy. Cystic Fibrosis or C.F. as it is known, is a disease children are born with that affects the lungs and digestive system. So please come out, have an ice cream cone and give a child the breath of life.

Other dates to remember: June 17 - C.F. bike-athon. Join in! June 23 - Gigantic flea market. June 30 - Truck pull and dance. July 1 - Fireworks.

Ontario snowmobile clubs get grant from government

The Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs will be able to increase the safety and popularity of snowmobiling in Ontario thanks to a $75,000 grant from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation.

Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation Ken Black announced the Community Recreation Development program grant at the Federation's annual convention in Sudbury.

The grant will fund two projects; $62,500 to assist the Federation in implementing a province-wide safety signage program. With standardized signs and trail markings on Ontario's 21,000 kilometres of snowmobile trails, the sport will be safer and more enjoyable for snowmobile enthusiasts.

The remaining funds, $12,500, will allow the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs to complete an organizational and management plan. A consultant, to be hired by the Federation, will survey the needs of the 280 member clubs to plan future safety and marketing programs.

"Through innovation and leadership, the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs is finding ways to improve this popular activity, as well as increasing winter tourism opportunities for Ontario's many small communities," Black said.

The grant is a component of the Ministry's Community Recreation Development Program, designed to improve recreation opportunities for residents of Ontario.

Local youth wins award

Dianne Garbutt has done it again.

The 19-year-old Minden resident won two major awards at the North Hastings Music Festival for her accomplishments on the piano last week.

The festival was held in Bancroft on May 1 and the top musicians were invited back last week to participate in the Festival of the Stars, where awards were announced. Garbutt won the Jenkins Musical Instruments Award for earning the highest ranking in the festival. She also won the Bill Gliddon Award for piano Grades 7 and up.

Garbutt is a Grade 13 student at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. She is planning to attend Sir Wilfred Laurier University next year to study music.

Ethiopia: A story of a brave and passionate people struggling for self-determination

by Carol Moffatt

This year marks the 45th anniversary of the cessation of World War II. Yet the largest battles since The Great War rage on, virtually unnoticed by the majority of society.

It isn't just a story of the frail, starving people seen on television—a story of a destitute nation whose survival depends upon Western society's generosity. It is a story of a courageous fight; of a brave and passionately proud people. It is an insider's story of the wars and devastation in Ethiopia.

Lee Holland is an agriculturalist, a missionary and the Secretary of World Development and Relief for the United Church of Canada. He is an unassuming man with a fervent belief in stopping war. On Tuesday night Holland spoke at the United Church in Minden about what he does and why.

The Horn of Africa is made up of Somalia, Ethiopia and the Sudan. Right now there are two wars going on in Somalia and four going on in Ethiopia.

Bordering the Red Sea at the top of Ethiopia is the province of Eritrea. It is the size of Great Britain. And with a thousand miles of coastal land, whoever controls it controls the imports and exports to the rest of the country. In 1950 the United Nations granted Eritrea autonomy, including their own legislative, executive and judicial powers. The autocratic Ethiopian government continually violated the democratic rights of Eritrea and eventually, in 1962, Eritrea was annexed from Ethiopia.

The Eritreans "feel they need to achieve the right for self-determination," said Holland, and they are fighting the Ethiopian army for that right.

The two sides clash over port towns, taking and losing them, cutting off supplies to the country's interior and their own people. This is the main reason the battles rage on and the people starve.

The Eritreans want a referendum to decide their future. They have three choices: become an autonomous state; become a federated state (which was their status before they were annexed), or become an independent nation. The first two options allow for the maintenance of the integrity of the Ethiopian government. The third option, the one the Ethiopian government refuses to allow, is undoubtedly the one most Eritreans will choose if allowed a referendum, Holland said.

Holland and his fellow missionaries were fortunate to be able to take part in a trip into Eritrea. But they had to go illegally, leaving their passports behind in Sudan in order to assure their exit

Missionary Lee Holland tells of his experiences in this African country ክፍረሰባዊት!

On April 12, 1988 400 Eritreans were massacred by the Ethiopian Army - 80 of them crushed beneath tanks. This poster is a reminder of the tragedy.

from the country. For a week they travelled by convoy, on trucks carrying food grain into Eritrea.

"The Ethiopians will bomb everything," said Holland. To avoid further devastation, Eritreans have gone underground. Where villages once sat, there appears to be nothing but rubble. But beneath the ruins are houses and workshops. Beneath the shady branches of large trees sit hospitals and schools. It is a world of camouflage. These are people of firm beliefs and they don't sit idly by and watch the destruction of their province.

Highly technical workshops exist for repairing the Mercedes and Toyota vehicles seized in battles. In one workshop Holland visited, 85 workers—30 of whom were women—fixed, tuned up and revitalized broken-down vehicles. Nothing is wasted; everything is recycled or reused for some worthwhile reason.

There is no money in Eritrea—virtually no currency at all. No one receives a salary. "They are living for a cause," said Holland. The greatest number of combat injuries received involves lost limbs. But the Eritreans have a false limb clinic where people can get canes and crutches in order to continue working for their beliefs, be that in battle or in a workshop of some sort.

Children learn English as one of the three, or maybe four, languages they use as a matter of course. "Higher education is a legacy of this territory," said Holland. Short-wave radio is the only means of communication and "Eritreans," said Holland, "can discuss world affairs more aptly than most people in Toronto."

Eritrea has an Italian colonial history and in the capital city of Asmara there are beautiful shops and restaurants. "It's just like a small provincial town in Italy," he said.

However, the majority of residents of Asmara come from Ethiopia proper and Eritreans are looked down upon in the more modern society. They are distrusted and shunned because of their fight for freedom.

Orphanages allocate children a 'mother' until the age of four, at which point they enter a communal living arrangement which takes on the responsibility of their education. "It's a questionable way of life, but it's fairly responsible under the circumstances."

A female combatant Holland came upon posed for a picture complete with her AK47 assault rifle, three rounds of ammunition, a knife, a notebook, grenades and a shawl. A young man they came upon also possessed an AK47, but he was just a farm hand.

Trucks travel only at night. During the day they hide in pits, covered with branches from trees. "Mig (bombers) don't fly at night," said Holland. Water tanks and gas pumps are built into hillsides, camouflaged with branches and old grain sacks. A single factory recycles old rubber sandals and produces all the sandals for the country.

Underground workshops produce 20 to 30 different types of medicine. They raise goats, donkeys and camels and yet they still fight and they still die. Four and a half million people are starving to death because a nation will not allow part of itself to be self-governing, a status they had once legally achieved.

The United Church is working hard to end the violence, "...violence made possible by a world allowing it to happen," said Holland. Overall, they have successfully sent 1.1 million tonnes of food and supplies into Eritrea. Holland informed the audience that the previous night, the United Church had pledged $1 million of food relief in the form of

Belief in peace, humanity are driving forces

peas and cooking oil. Other churches had pledged wheat and grains.

The 1984 world-wide pledge to end world hunger was a great asset to the problem, he said, but it is unlikely to be repeated. The United Church took an unusual step and quietly set a target of $500,000 in aid. The fund currently stands at $270,000 and is allocated by the Canadian Food Grain Bank.

Monique Landry, the Minister of External Relations and International Development recently presented a Statement of Principles to the United Nations. Outlining the need for relief funding to various war-torn countries, the Statement was accepted by all countries except Russia and Ethiopia.

Scientists and other missionaries are in Eritrea performing studies and experiments on the arid land. They are teaching the Eritreans to build dams, to terrace arable land, to control erosion and to establish fisheries projects in order to help them to help themselves.

Unfortunately, people aren't the only casualties of these wars. The extreme lack of rain combined with limited fossil waters is resulting in a tremendous loss of trees. In the last 40 years there has been a 42 percent decrease in trees, especially cedar trees.

"As well," said Holland, "valuable genetic resources for wheats, barley and coffee live in Eritrea." To let these resources die would be to lose valuable assets to the world.

Holland's steady composure broke only once. When asked of his feelings about spending so much time with such a needy people, only to return to indulgent, self-satisfying Western culture, Holland said "people are deluded. A lot of people are living for the wrong reasons." He then pounded his hands on the rail of the front pew and exclaimed, "What are we going to do about it?"

Holland and the United Church don't take sides in the wars, they simply provide food and supplies for its victims. The politics aren't unnoticed, but they aren't the issues of main concern. "War is brutal," said Holland, "and I ask the fundamental question: why do we allow it to occur in this day and age?"

Helping nations trapped in violence, whether it's Mozambique, Nicaragua or Zambia (where Holland lived for 18 years) isn't a question of religious duty. It involves a passion for the perpetuation of humanity.

Minden's United Church Minister Ed Moll reminded the audience that we are our brother's keeper. "It's not a question of grains or barley, it is a question of human lives and the future," he said.

Holland has a strong sense of why he does what he does. "I have no choice," he said, "I've got to try, knowing what I know and seeing what I've seen."

Spring has sprung!

This column is the first venture in what we hope will be a long and fruitful association between Master Gardeners and the community.

First a few words of explanation about who we are and how the Master Gardener Program works. The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food (OMAF) has offered local horticultural societies the opportunity to study all aspects of gardening and horticulture through correspondence courses from the University of Guelph. In return, each Master Gardener volunteer commits to doing 60 hours of garden related community service work, over two years, providing reliable and useful information to the public.

Master Gardeners are experienced gardeners who enjoy volunteering their time and knowledge to help others in their community. Shopping malls, flower shows and local fairs are possible locations for Master Gardener clinics in the near future where any garden problems or questions you may have be brought to our volunteers for diagnosis. For example, Master Gardeners can help you with information about lawn care, pruning, seeding and harvesting, shrubs and herbicides and pesticides.

Master Gardeners may be reached by letter at Master Gardeners, P.O. Box 1372, Peterborough, Ontario, K9J 7H6. Be sure to include your name, address and telephone number.

Our local group of Master Gardener volunteers hopes to provide you with a regular column that will cover practical topics which will be useful throughout this gardening season. So please do not hesitate to write to us with your gardening questions. In future columns, we will feature your questions along with our answers and relevant helpful information. We also welcome your suggestions for topics you would like to see covered in this column and look forward to hearing from you.

The following are a few helpful gardening hints for the start of the new gardening season.

Growing Asparagus

Asparagus is a long lasting perennial which may grow in the same spot for 15 or more years. 30 to 50 plants should be sufficient for a family of four. It should be planted in a well drained spot off to the side of the garden where it will not interfere with rototilling or rotation of crops.

Asparagus can be grown in any well drained fertile soil which is slightly acid but not below pH 6. Dig a trench 18" wide and about 10" deep. To the soil removed add a quantity of organic matter and 5-10-5 fertilizer (5lbs per 75' of rows). Replace this soil mixture in the trench to a depth of six to eight inches below ground level. Tamp down and place roots on top of replaced soil in trench, crown side up, 2' apart. Rows should be 4' apart. Cover the roots with 2 to 3" of soil mix. As the plants sprout, add more soil until the trench is full. Fertilize with 5-10-5 fertilizer 2 to 3 months after planting and again in fall and spring.

Hoe very shallowly to avoid damage to roots. Mulching will help keep down weeds.

Do not pick shoots the first season. Shoots can be picked during the second season when they are 7" high and from then on. The bed will be well established by that time.

Mulch the asparagus bed in the fall for winter protection.

Harvesting can be spread over a longer period by removing the winter mulch from half of the bed a few weeks before removing it from the rest of the bed.

Early Planting

Yes, you can plant before May 24! Peas, carrots, radishes, onions, beets, lettuce and spinach are just some of the vegetables that can be planted as soon as the soil is ready. Don't worry about the weather. Germination success will vary from year to year, but those early fresh veggies are a real treat you don't have to miss out on.

Coffee and Tea for Your Plants

Coffee grounds are slightly acid and when added to the soil in small doses may be beneficial. But the brew itself is useful ONLY when it has cooled and been diluted at least five to one with tap water. Hot coffee is at least as painful to a root as it is to a tongue. The same applies to tea. Go to the Lakefield Library and look at their coffee coloured "white" begonia.

Alternatives for abandoned lines

While the selective abandonment of rail service may make some commuters unhappy, the Ontario Trails Council has found an alternative for abandoned railway rights-of-way that is bound to please many Ontarians.

The Ontario Trail Council (OTC) wants to convert abandoned railway corridors into multi-purpose, year-round recreational trails for walkers, hikers, joggers, naturalists, cyclists, horse riders, cross-country skiers, snowmobilers and the disabled. At its second annual meeting held at Black Creek Pioneer Village, the OTC released its report, "Trails for Today and Tomorrow—Converting Ontario's Abandoned Rail Corridors to Recreational Trails."

Aimed primarily at the provincial government, the report requests Government officials to purchase and land bank all existing and future abandoned railway corridors across Ontario. The OTC designated 21 existing abandoned corridors that have the highest priority to make an inter-connecting trail system throughout Ontario. Once the rail corridors have been secured by the Ontario government, the OTC is suggesting a partnership among the government, the OTC and various municipal governments, trail interest groups, and private enterprise to develop and maintain the trails.

Ontario Trail Council president Mavis McCullum says the abandoned railway corridors offer the least cost solution for creating an Ontario trail network.

Just over a year ago, the County of Haliburton purchased the abandoned CN rail line from the county border to the village of Haliburton. At the moment, Snowdon Reeve George Simmons is heading a committee to study the integrated use of this recreational facility. If the OTC is successful in convincing the province to purchase other abandoned lines, the local trail could bowl. Chives are very hardy perennials and should be divided every two or three years. Stalks have mild onion flavour.

GARLIC CHIVES Allium tuberosum

Another perennial, garlic chives have stalks which are mildly garlic flavoured. The starry white flowers bloom in August and September and are great for flower arranging. Garlic chives do not spread as rampantly as purple chives.

EGYPTIAN ONIONS Allium cepa viviparum

Egyptian onions are another winter hardy plant. In the spring they are good green onions and later on form a tall fat stalk. On top of this stalk is a cluster of small onions with a green stalk which also grows more onions. When the onions get top heavy they fall over and root. They multiply very quickly. The onions also divide at the original root stalk and need to be kept under control. This is easy to do as the small onions on top are very tasty when boiled or steamed.

GARLIC Allium sativum

A very pungent herb and easy to grow. While it is not a perennial, it can be planted in the fall like tulips. Break apart a head of garlic and plant individual cloves 2" deep and 6" apart. It will make some green growth in the fall, overwinter, and be ready to harvest in August.

FRENCH SHALLOTS Allium ascalonicum

Shallots are as easy to grow as garlic. They can be planted in the fall or spring. Fall planting gives a bigger bulb at harvest time. When one shallot is planted, it produces 5 to 10 bulbs. Shallots should be dug every year when they ripen in August. Then more should be planted for next season. Shallots have a finer flavour than regular multiplier onions.

The recent Earth Day celebration has made many people wonder about our over-consumption of meats as a source protein. Even those who would never consider becoming vegetarians know that - considering fat content, price and ecology - eating less meat and more grains and legumes can benefit all of us. There are many ways we can do this, but one is the lunch box. Gone are the drinking boxes, plastic sandwich bags and start to use Thermos bottles for milk or fruit or vegetable juices, waxed paper, cloth napkins and a reusable lunch box. Here is a start for lunch box sandwiches.

Mini Hummous Sandwiches: This spread is a treat - low fat alternative to peanut butter.

19oz (540 mL tin chick-peas, drained or cook your own)

1 clove garlic, minced (optional)
3 tbsp lemon juice
3 tbsp olive oil
1/4 tsp hot red pepper sauce (or to taste)
1/2 tsp salt
1/4 tsp black pepper
12 mini pita breads (or your favourite bread)
12 large basil leaves (or dried basil)
2 small tomatoes, thinly sliced.

Place chick-peas in food processor fitted with steel blade. Puree coarsely. (If using a blender, puree in two batches, adding about 1/4 cup of water each time). Add garlic, lemon juice, olive oil, hot pepper sauce, salt and pepper. Puree until as smooth as you wish. Taste and adjust seasoning if necessary. If mixture is too thick, add a tbsp or two of water. Cut tops off pita breads and open pockets. Fill each with a spoonful of chick-pea mixture or spread on bread for sandwiches. Place a slice of tomato on each and basil. Makes 4 to 6 servings. These suggestions are from Bonnie Stern of the Bonnie Stern Cooking School, Toronto.

Wheels to Meals luncheon and euchre held at Minden legion. Door prize Martha Mansfield, high man Dick Joy, high lady Hilda Rusk, lone hand Lil Martin and low score Vera Ward. Please note that the next luncheon and euchre will be held Tuesday, June 5. Call Muriel Proctor at 286-2733 or Nelda Yakely at 286-2872.

This past weekend, Gil and I enjoyed a visit with our daughter Susan and her husband Paul Irwin.

Results from Legion euchre games held May 3 include, for most lone hands, Verna McDonald and Eli Langpohl while Jack Chilton and Ellen Klok were high man and lady. Other winners included Lil Martin, Norm Lee, Willard Bridgman, and Martha Mansfield. Draw winners were Jeanne Sears, Wyona Spicher, Marie Dennie, Roy McDonald and Ellen Klok.

Club 35 euchre winners on May 7 included Jack Gregory most lone hands, high man and lady Milt Fletcher and Helen Windsor and Ken Campbell for the 50-50 draw. Other winners included Wally Harpur, Pearl Foster and Betty Campbell. There will be a potluck supper held May 25. Come enjoy the great food.

Club 35 bridge winners on May 8 included Vangie Crancher, Thelda Weston and Marg Fletcher. The next bridge games are May 22. No bridge on May 15 due to senior games.

Ed and Peg Pettinger are now back from the "sunny south". They visited with Peg's sister, Maisie McIntosh at Hyland Crest and found to their delight that she was looking and feeling better. They wish to thank all the staff for their excellent care giving. Glad to hear this good news from you both.

May 1 winners at Gelert Card Party were: Isabel Saunders, Joyce Schellenberg, Bruce O'Brien, Orville Francis and Bob Vick. The card party will be held every Tuesday evening in Gelert for the month of May. Everyone welcome.

Our humming birds will soon be coming back to us so get your feeders ready to welcome them. The recommended solution is one part sugar to four parts water, bring to the boil and stir to make sure sugar has dissolved. Cool before putting it in the feeder.

The winners of the May 8 Gelert card party included Isa Hilyer, May Hicks, Mervin Gilbert, Bruce O'Brien, Harry Wooley. Next card party will be Tuesday, May 15 and there will be the draw for the quilt. Everyone welcome.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the families and friends of Hazel Parish and Graham Bugden.

Positive changes can be made

From May 26 until June 23, 1990, the Rails' End Gallery will be hosting Gatherings: Ecological Creations by Wendy E. Bateman.

Gatherings is a participatory fibre exhibition focussing upon the environment and the damage we have created. It is an exhibition, however, which also offers the viewer hope and encouragement that positive changes can be made. To fully experience Gatherings, viewers will be invited to touch, walk and crawl through the woven structures as well as to assist in the making of an installation piece entitled Acid Rain Waterfall.

To further assist the viewer's understanding of this show, Wendy's studio will be transferred from Blue Hawk Lake and temporarily housed at the Rails' End Gallery. For four days each week, Wendy will be the artist-in-residence, working at her loom, answering questions and conducting tours.

A remarkable aspect about this exhibition is the high level of community involvement it has generated. Many people have organized events to coincide with Gatherings.

On Saturday, May 26, between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., Head Lake Park in Haliburton will come alive with booths, entertainment and other activities all designed to increase awareness of the environment. Within this ecological theme, nature walks, music, plays, demonstrations about composting and organic gardening, junk boat races, workshops for children on how to make toys and musical instruments from recycled materials plus much, much, more,

will occur.

For more information, contact the Rails' End Gallery at 457-2330.

The Rails' End Gallery is housed in a historic, century-old railway station located in the heart of Haliburton village. the gallery hours are Monday to Saturday, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

EXPROPRIATIONS ACT

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL TO EXPROPRIATE LAND

IN THE MATTER OF an application by the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth for approval to expropriate land being part of Lot 5 in Concession XII of the Township of Lutterworth in the County of Haliburton for the purpose of expansion of its municipal works yard.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that application has been made for approval to expropriate the land described as follows:

Part of Lot 5 in Concession XII of the Township of Lutterworth in the County of Haliburton, designated Part 1 on a Plan of Survey dated the 22nd day of August, 1989, prepared by C.T. Strongman, O.L.S.

Any owner of lands in respect of which notice is given who desires an inquiry into whether the taking of such land is fair, sound and reasonably necessary in the achievement of the objectives of the expropriating authority shall so notify the approving authority in writing.

(a) in the case of a registered owner, served personally or by registered mail within thirty days after he is served with the notice, or, when he is served by publication, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice;

(b) in the case of an owner who is not a registered owner, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice.

The approving authority is

The Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth
P.O. Box 176
Minden, Ontario

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH

Jeunne A. Simpson, Clerk

NOTES:

1. The Expropriations Act provides that,
(a) where an inquiry is requested, it shall be conducted by an inquiry officer appointed by the Attorney General;

(b) the inquiry officer,

(i) shall give every party to the inquiry an opportunity to present evidence and argument and to examine and cross-examine witnesses, either personally or by his counsel or agent, and

(ii) may recommend to the approving authority that a party to the inquiry be paid a fixed amount for his cost of the inquiry not to exceed $200 and the approving authority may in its discretion order the expropriating authority to pay such costs forthwith.

2. "owner" and "registered owner" are defined in the Act as follows:

"owner" includes a mortgagee, tenant, execution creditor, a person entitled to a limited estate or interest in land, a committee of the estate of a mentally incompetent person or of a person incapable of managing his affairs, and a guardian, executor, administrator or trustee in whom land is vested;

"registered owner" means an owner of land whose interest in the land is defined and whose name is specified in an instrument in the proper land registry or sheriff's office, and includes a person shown as a tenant of land on the last revised assessment roll.

3. The expropriating authority, each owner who notifies the approving authority that he deserves a hearing in respect of the lands intended to be expropriated and any owner added as a party by the inquiry officer are parties to the inquiry.

THIS NOTICE first published on the 7th day of MAY 1990.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ZONING BY-LAW NO. 4-81

NOTICE OF MEETING

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth will hold a public meeting at 7:00 p.m. on the 28th day of June, 1990, at the Minden Community Centre to consider a proposed amendment to By-law No. 4-81, the comprehensive Zoning By-law, in accordance with Section 34 of The Planning Act, S.O., 1983, c.1., as amended.

LOCATION OF LANDS AFFECTED

The lands in question are located along the Gull River in Concessions XIII and XIV, Lots 3 through 7, in the Township of Lutterworth. The lands are graphically illustrated on the Location Map below.

PURPOSE OF AMENDMENT

The proposed amendment serves to make changes to the Zone Map to add an Environmental Protection (EP) Zone to correspond to the area along the River subject to severe flooding (floodway) and a flood fringe symbol is added to existing zone symbols for lands located in the less severely flooded area. The by-law adds corresponding regulations to control construction within the area subject to potential flooding.

REPRESENTATION

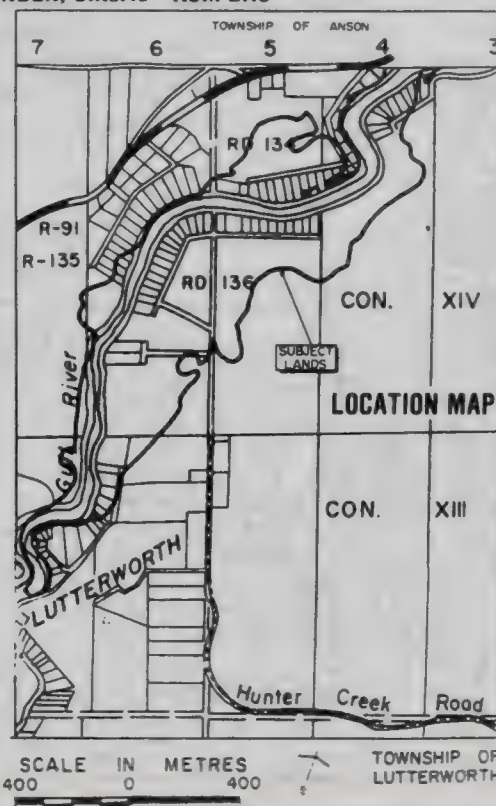

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed amendment.

INFORMATION

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the draft By-law amendment is available for inspection during regular office hours at the Municipal Offices.

Dated at the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth this 2nd day of May, 1990.

The Rotary Club of Minden has lent a hand in spreading the word about a new children's help line. The national 800 phone number is available for young people to call if they need assistance as a result of emotional, abuse, or just problems that arise with growing up. The number connects the caller with a trained counsellor who provides a sympathetic ear, advice and suggestions on where the young person can find assistance in their own community. The poster was created by a Highlands student. It depicts the dilemma of a young person 'caught in the middle' of a family in turmoil. The posters will be distributed throughout the area by Haliburton County Family Violence Co-ordinating Committee, a group representing various social agencies in the area. Constable Mike Maybee of the Minden OPP, representing the group, displays the new poster with Minden Rotary Club president Russ Paul. The club paid for the printing of the colourful poster.

St. Margaret's ladies serve delightful lunch

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Wednesday evening Pastor Murray from Allsaw Pentecostal Church held a service in the main lounge. The residents thank him and his helpers for the service.

St. Margaret's Anglican Church of Wilberforce brought a delicious lunch. The residents enjoyed it very much. The ladies who served were Edith Daniels, Hilda Clark, Else Lewis, Elaine Wright and Evelyn Johnston. The church organist entertained us delightfully with piano music and the choir members sang which was lovely. We sincerely thank you all.

Thursday evening Tom McAllister called Bingo for us. We were happy to see him and do appreciate his coming to call.

Friday was "Happy Hour". The entertainment was Toose Reid and Rose Berry singing accompanied by their guitars. The residents and friends enjoyed them greatly. The volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden and Janke Thomas. We thank you all very much for your assistance, it is much appreciated.

Friday evening the Grandfathers Four came to the main lounge to entertain us. They are, Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon on guitars, Charlie Hadley, mandolin, and Don Smith playing mouth organs. It was an enjoyable evening and we sincerely thank them.

Mrs. Charlotte Fry returned Saturday after a three week visit in Flint, Michigan.

Vera Archer had her sister-in-law Helen Archer and two friends from Huntsville to visit her Saturday.

Ed and Peggy Pettinger came to visit Marjory (Maizy) McIntosh on Friday.

Goods and Services tax credit may ease your financial strain

Although the deadline for filing the 1989 Tax Return has passed, it is not too late for anyone with an income of less than $18,000 single or less than $20,000 combined income, to file and claim for the Federal Sales Tax Credit of up to $100 (single) or up to $200 (combined).

When filing the 1989 return, you also have the opportunity to complete an application to receive a credit for the proposed Goods and Services Tax (GST). The basic credit for each eligible applicant will be $190, or $380 per couple. Most low-income singles will also be entitled to an additional credit of $100 for a total of $290. The first cheque of four will be mailed out before the GST is scheduled to take effect on January 1, 1991. This will be done so that recipients will receive the credit before they pay GST on household expenses. Everyone is required to file a tax return, even if their income is low enough not to be taxable.

For further information or to have your return completed, contact your nearest Information Centre. In Haliburton the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Avenue, open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. For residents of Minden and surrounding areas, the centre located in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Building, Milne Street, is open Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.

Abandoned rails to trails

become part of the integrated provincial network the OTC envisions.

"We've got a marvelous opportunity," the OTC president said. "The abandoned railroad rights-of-way are ideal for creating linear green parks for year-round recreational activities. These parks can be used by everyone—families, young and mature adults alike. By inter-connecting the new rail-trails with existing trails a province-wide network would be created.

Its a boom to tourism, conservation, improving the environment, health and fitness and trail interest groups."

McCullum estimates 63 percent, or more than five million Ontarians participate in trail-related activities.

When a railway corridor is abandoned, it is offered for sale first to the federal government, then successively to the provincial government, municipal governments, adjacent land owners and all other interested parties.

Land banking by the provincial government protect the strategically valuable rail corridors from being lost to private development. It ensures their availability for trails, parkland, utility corridors, or possible future rail corridors.

Says McCullum, "The crucial task is to get the government to agree to purchase the land then land-bank the property. Because, once lost, it is lost forever."

McCullum points out that converting rails to trails has been successful in other countries. Under the Rails to Trails Conservancy in the United States, 230 rail corridors in 33 states have been converted to rail trails. The Bermuda government converted its 21 mile rail line that runs along the seacoast into a multi-use trail, which has become a popular tourist attraction.

The OTC represents more than 500,000 individuals in over 20 organizations. Its elected board of directors includes members from Hike Ontario, the Bruce Trail Association, the Canadian Motorcycle Association, the Ontario Cycling Association, the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs and the Ontario Trail Riders Association.

Fishing changes in effect

The Ministry of Natural Resources would like to remind all trout anglers in the Algonquin Region that some significant changes to the fishing regulations are in effect for this year.

Algonquin Park anglers will recognize these changes, as they are in effect for Division 13 in 1989. They are contained in the "Ontario Sport Fishing Regulations - Summary 1990" which is available free of charge at sporting outlets, ministry offices and licence issuers. The changes include:

- a reduced daily limit for lake trout of two fish per day.

- inclusion of splake in the daily catch and possession limit of five trout per day on inland waters only. Thus, they are no longer considered as part of the lake trout limit in inland waters. A list of lakes which have been planted with splake is available from the district in which you plan to fish.

- an aggregate limit of five trout per day, of which no more than two may be lake trout. In other words, you may not catch or possess more than five trout in any combination of species, and no more than two of them may be lake trout. For instance, you might have three splake and one brook trout and one lake trout; or two lake trout and three brook trout; or five splake, or five rainbow trout, but in any one day you may not have more than five trout altogether.

These new regulations were designed to afford more protection from heavy fishing for sensitive lake trout. The increase in the splake limit will provide additional opportunities to add these fish to your daily creel.

Canadians an altruistic society

Report From Ottawa

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Volunteers are the grease that keeps the wheels of thousands of organizations turning.

They are found at all levels of society, and give freely of their time to a wide variety of tasks, including social welfare activities, arts and cultural projects and environmental initiatives.

Given so much work is accomplished by volunteers, it is important to know who they are, why they decide to donate their time and energy, and what kinds of people tend to gravitate toward what kinds of organizations. The answers to these questions, important in their own right, are especially crucial in these days of fiscal restraint.

A recent publication, "Giving Freely: Volunteers in Canada", answers these and other questions posed by those people and organizations who depend on the goodwill of others to get their work done.

Released jointly by Harvie Andre, then-Minister responsible for Statistics Canada, and Gerry Weiner, Minister of Multiculturalism and Citizenship, the publication reveals volunteers come from all walks of life and engage in a huge array of activities.

Canadian volunteers devoted over one billion hours of their time from November 1986 to October 1987, and they represent 27 per cent of our over-15 population.

According to the survey, Canadians volunteer because they wish to help others, forward a cause they believe in and relish the sense of accomplishment that follows a volunteer experience.

The most popular activities for volunteers include: fundraising and canvassing, providing information and organizing and supervising events.

Interestingly, the participation rate rose with education, from a low of 13 per cent for those with fewer than nine years of education to a high of 46 per cent among university graduates.

The survey shows almost two-thirds of Canadian volunteers had a paid job in the week preceding the study, and about half were working full time.

Six in ten volunteers were women, although the participation varied by age group. For example, 52 per cent of volunteers aged 45 to 54 were women compared to 64 per cent aged 65 and over.

The study is by far the richest source of information about volunteers available; it should help raise the profile of volunteers in Canada and, hopefully, encourage others to donate their time and energy to causes they believe in.

May Horsley had her daughter Lynn and David to see her on Saturday.

Saturday morning we had a tree planting where we had the Christmas tree last Christmas. This was due to the thoughtfulness of four gentlemen. The tree was donated by Ralph Young, and the truck and equipment by Francis Walker. Alex Walker and Don Alton donated their labour and Don also operated the backhoe. I am sure the tree will give us pleasure from year to year. Thank you men for the tree and all the acts that go with transplanting so large a tree.

Sunday Chapel Service was held by Reverend John Burgess and Alice Jones playing the organ. There was the usual number attended. Marge and Ray Sisson who were here to see May Horsley and Ina McGuire attended with them. Also Leon Jones and his mother Alice attended. Thanks to Reverend Burgess and Alice for the enlightening message and the music to help our singing.

Monday Evelyn Coleman came for Bible Study. We sympathize with her as she just heard her sister was very ill. Monday was the last study period until next fall.

After Bible Study, Residents' Council was held in the crafts room. We decided to sponsor Mike Elder for "The Ride For Sight" held in Lindsay. We discussed several topics of interest to our home.

Wednesday afternoon a retirement party was held in the auditorium in honour of Mark Schell who is retiring after fifteen years as Supervisor of the Dietary Department. A buffet lunch was served and provided by all departments in Hyland Crest. At the head table were Don Shortreed, County Warden; Bern Berry, Deputy Reeve; Anson, Hindon and Minden; Gary McKnight, County Administrator; Rheta Jones, Administrator of Hyland Crest; Winnifred

Barnum, President of Residents' Council; and Pearl Lyle and Guest of Honour, Mark Schell. After the lovely refreshments, Mark was presented with gifts from all departments and many good wishes for a happy retirement. It was a happy time as well as a sad one. Mark had endeared himself through the Home. We will miss him greatly but I am sure that the new Supervisor will be a great help wherever possible. There was quite a number of former staff members present to wish Mark well

Fundamental #3:

"Pssst! . . . WANNA BUY A HOUSE?"

Surely, this would not be a wise approach to selling your house. More to the point: if you were a buyer, would you even consider such a "proposition"? We think not. The sale of a home occurs three, maybe four times, in a lifetime, and involves many experts at each stage of the transaction. REALTORS are an essential part of that process.

REALTORS adhere to a strict Code of Ethics; their services thus ensure that your most important asset — your home — is handled professionally, so that your expectations are met. . . . that can make a REAL difference!

Special needs kids 'banking' on sale

Kookies 4 Kids is the name of the annual Bankers Bake Sale which will be held on Friday, June 1. The staff of each bank, credit union, trust company and investment company are baking up a storm and displaying it for sale when business opens on June 1.

This year the Bankers are going to kick off the Five Counties Children's Centre Month, as proclaimed by the City of Peterborough.

Branches of every major bank and financial institution, all the way from Cobourg to Bancroft and from Lindsay to Havelock will be selling sweet, gooey cookies, squares, cakes, tarts, and pies along with many other culinary surprises. All baked products are donated to Five Counties Children's Centre and proceeds from the sales will be given to the Centre.

Many of the staff are competing with one another, while jealously guarding their secrets, to see whose cake, cookies or squares will sell first, and whose will attract the most banking customers.

Most staff will be wearing new neon (fluorescent) T-shirts identifying them as Kookies 4 Kids supporters.

This year's goal is set at $15,000.

Eakins re-affirms commitment with reduced provincial debt and balanced budget

For the first time in 43 years the provincial debt will be reduced, says local MPP John Eakins.

Despite the federal government's cutbacks of $2.1 billion, the provincial debt will be reduced by $430 million. This news marks the second time the provincial budget has been balanced, with a surplus of $30 million.

"I'm proud to say we have a balanced budget for the second year in a row," said Eakins. "We've accomplished this in spite of inheriting a deficit close to three billion dollars five years ago when we took office," he added.

Eakins feels the budget responds to the concerns of people who have contacted him over a period of time urging the provincial government to balance the budget, cut the debt and 'pay as we go'.

'Pay-as-you-go' means provincial taxes fund programs and services in Ontario.

Treasurer Bob Nixon is staying with that strategy which is working well. He said this year's budget will meet the needs of Ontarians well into the 1990s. The budget also has no general tax increases.

As well as remaining fiscally responsible, said Eakins, the government is managing to provide for many of the needs of citizens. "Our commitment to social reform and environmental protection will continue."

Powerline Maintainer Apprentices Women and Men

The Regions Branch of Ontario Hydro is responsible for the distribution and transmission of electrical power throughout Ontario.

We now have an opportunity in Georgian Bay Retail Region for women and men interested in pursuing a career in our Lines Trade.

We offer a four year apprenticeship program which will train you in the installation, repair and maintenance of our power lines. This work involves climbing hydro poles, hoisting and manipulating bulky and heavy objects at heights up to 30 metres. Work is done outdoors and in all weather conditions in an electrical environment.

A regular work week is 40 hours and you may be required to work extended hours during storms and special projects. Some overnight travel will be required to satisfy work programs and to attend training at our facility in Orangeville.

The female apprentice training crew is scheduled to begin employment in Muskoka Area (Bracebridge) in August 1990.

The male apprentice training crew is scheduled to begin employment in November 1990 in various Areas.

Candidates must:

- Have Grade 12 or equivalent with credits in Grade 11 Physics, or other science related subjects, and Grade 12 Math
- Possess a valid driver's licence and be capable of eventually obtaining a Class A licence
- Be willing to accept permanent placement in one of the Retail Customer Area locations or on the Travelling Line Crew. Area offices are located at Alliston, Barrie, Bowmanville, Bracebridge, Fenelon Falls, Minden, Newmarket, Orangeville, Owen Sound, Parry Sound, Penetang and Walkerton; or at service centres at Cobourg, Huntsville, Orillia, Stayner and Lions Head
- Be able to accept 2 or 3 rotations of approximately 8 months each, in different Areas before permanent placement.

You will also participate in a pre-qualification test to assess your ability to perform basic physically demanding tasks of the trade.

Ontario Hydro offers competitive wages and a comprehensive benefit package.

All interested, qualified candidates are invited to apply, by obtaining and completing an Ontario Hydro standard application form along with a Powerline Maintainer Information form. These forms are available from all Ontario Hydro Area Offices, at the above locations. Please include transcripts of school marks and proof of driver's licence with your application, which must be received by May 28, 1990. Please send your complete application to: Human Resources, Ontario Hydro, Georgian Bay Retail Region, 93 Bell Farm Road, Barrie, Ontario L4M 1H1.

We thank all applicants for their interest, however only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

Ontario Hydro encourages applications from qualified women, men, members of visible minorities, aboriginal peoples and persons with disabilities.

IN MEMORIAM

GILBANK, BEATRICE. In loving memory of our dear mother who left us May 17, 1986.

Resting where no shadows fall,
In peaceful sleep, she waits us all;
God will link the broken chain,
When one by one we meet again.

Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten, Jean & Harry, Bertha & Pete.
